OUR OBSERVATION

In 2020, there were approximately 740 millions of internal migrants in the world of which 15 millions with the refugee status. (Source: according to the United Nations Development Programme).

OUR MISSION

- Connect organizations together in order to let them share their best practices.

Regarding this important and critical issue, the NGOs on the field are facing major challenges. Moreover they are often alone addressing those difficulties. Because they have access to limited resources, NGOs have to give even more efforts to help the Youth.

TESTIMONIES

For our 6th edition, we decided to start by testimonies of four young refugees. They had share their migratory and integration journey by giving us an overview.

The first testimony was:

Meet my Mama: is a start-up created in 2016 by Youssef Oudahman, Donia Amamra and Loubna Ksibi that allow to give power back to refugee women or migrants and to give them once again the possibility to pursue their passions in order to make them achieve their dreams.

The start-up integrate also a “Mama Academy”; which provides classes of: french linked to the catering sector, management, food hygiene and safety. They also provide qualifying trainings with starred chefs and public speaking trainings.

The training course by the Mama Academy will soon receive the accreditation from Pôle Emploi, the french governmental agency which registers the unemployed people and support them in their search for employment.

How the refugees are informed about Meet my Mama?

Donia: “We went to see residential centers when we launched Meet my Mama. We also work with partner organizations such as France Terre d’asile or Singa. Moreover word of mouth and the social media are 2 ways that works well. At last, during events and meetings we always make sure to get in touch with social workers.

Donia Souad Amamra

Co-founder of Meet My Mama

Nitha Mathyalagan, Sri Lankan refugee, has been the first Mama to join the culinary and entrepreneurial adventure.

In 2007: her woman refugee journey is starting simultaneously with her mother duty. Nitha encounter some difficulties as being able to feed herself and her child everyday.

In 2015, she arrives in France and discover Meet my Mama enabling her to increase her professional potential and regain self esteem.

Nowadays, Nitha is the Sri Lankan and Malaysian ambassador. She is a well-known cheffe, specialized in pâtisserie.

“Don't mess with our Mamas because they got the soul, the power, the talents to make the catering industry great again.”

TESTIMONIES

Taking the decision of leaving your own country is hard and when the arrival in your host country is not as expected, it required a lot of courage and tenacity.

The second testimony is a living proof of the extreme motivation and strength of character of people with refugee status.

Tidiane Boiro

Vice-Président - REPAIRS! 95

Arrived from Guinea, he has to be self reliant because begging isn't part of his culture. Even with daily efforts, he will know the street and difficulties that are linked to it : insult from others and negative glances.

Tidiane will have an important encounter: a young man from Cameroon that will help him change his precarious situation.

He gets in contact with La Cimade, a French organization, that will help him have access to a roof. He meets educators who are helping him.

Nowadays, Tidiane is vice-president of Repairs! 95, a French organization who is helping minors with child protection status.

He wants to give back the help that have been given to him. It is obvious for Tidiane.

Diodio Metro

Presidente - REPAIRS! 95

Repairs! 95 , created in July 2019, is part of the network of Adepape, present in 8 departments in France. R epairs! 95 has its own way of working, which allowed/allows it to accompanied already 175 Youth.

The organization operates with the concept of moving forward. It means that they are directly going to meet minors, who could have been with the child protection status, in order to make them aware of the organization and the help that they provide.

Les pieds sous la table (Foot under the table) is one of the activity done by Repairs! 95. It is a diner made by the organization, and where all the children and youth are invited. They are enhancing the freedom of speech with a lot of benevolence Repairs! 95 has a strong value called: donation for a donation: every child, youth or adult who will receive help from the organization will give back and help in returns someone new.

"I am rich today and why I am rich because I have a job, my French residential documents, a house, and a good health."

Tidiane

TESTIMONIES

The third testimony shows us that some real solutions exist to help youth inclusion of refugees and migrants. However, it requires motivation to go back to school and a good attendance.

Ahmad Shekib Davood

Finishing the training of Developer data Simplon.Co

From Kabul, Afghanistan, he arrives in France in 2017. Shekib encountered a lot of difficulties to get his residential papers and to be allowed on the french territory for a long term stay.

He graduates the first year of a IT bachelor degree at the University Sorbonne Paris. But he cannot go further because of the language barrier. The French is not secured enough.

Janvier 2021: Shekib starts the training of Developer Data at Simplon. He should have done an internship while doing this training however he cannot find one as per the majority of his batch. This is due to the sanitary regulation in order to stop the covid pandemic. They will also be forced to do the training online and from their home.

Shekib stays motivated and happy about his choice of joining Simplon. He wishes to be independent very quickly and as soon as he will finish his training.

29% of the trainees are under 25 years old.

Since 2016, Simplon.co is involved in the social and professional inclusion of foreigners by providing them trainings linked to their needs: digital literacy trainings with intense french classes depending on their level and professional plan.

There are 3 programmes available for refugee and migrants:

Welcode, Refugeeks et Alphacllic.

At the very core of the DNA of Simplon lives the main idea in which the digital is a great tool for inclusion, integration and employability. Moreover it's a catalyst for diversity and social innovation.

"This training changed my entire life: I will be able to work in a sector that I truly appreciate. I'll give my best to find a job as soon as I finish." Shekib

TESTIMONIES

The last testimony of this afternoon, shows us once more the strength of character of the Youth who arrived in France and their desire to succeed and win this bet regarding their social and professional integration journey

Stéphane Quéméneur

Mahmoud has 22 years old, he is Syrian and he is doing a civic service.

In 2018, he arrives in France and he has managed himself on its own to find a civic service thanks to social media.

It is nearly the end of this adventure and he will start a internship to become an auto mechanic.

His french is getting better but reading and writing are still difficult. So Mahmoud keeps trying and give himself challenges as today's event by giving a testimony.

Since 1994, Unis-Cité is welcoming youth from 16-25 years old.

Inspired by volunteers working for International Solidarity and by the american organization City Year; Unis-Cité emerges with the moto: “All united into the poorest working-class suburb”.

The guiding principle is : diversity and orange was chosen as a symbolic color for his energy.

Unis-Cité give the opportunity to youth to do a service civic and to choose from a wide range of them.

The service civic represents undoubtedly a stepping stone to employment.

Moreover, youth who are doing a civic service into Unis-Cité are receiving an allowance of 580€.

“Civic Service is a tool for inclusion and gives an answer on the : lack of income of the youth between 16-25 years old by giving an allowance.” Stéphane

Acina works for the social and professional support of young migrants located in Paris and the surrounding area (intra community origin and with International protection status), living in precarious situation and poor housing. Since 2019, they are supporting refugees from Paris and in the Val d'Oise.

They are present in the surrounding areas of Paris except in the department 77 and 78. In total, they are a bit more than 30 employees.

In every departementales branches, the team is made of 1 global coordinator and 4 social workers specialized in social professional inclusion
Their pedagogy is based on the moving forward concept.

One of the first objective is to: make young migrants self-sufficient in their job search and to give them the opportunity to have a long-term and sustainable social and professional inclusion into the french society.

The Youth that are accompanied by Acina are facing diverse difficulties.

On the professional side

- Language barrier: due to a low level of french
- Lack of knowledge about labour market in France and about the job search methods as doorstep, resume and cover letter writing.
- Lack of access to digital tools

On the personal side:

- A precarious situation: poor housing
- A lack of knowledge regarding their own skills
- A lack of confidence

Acina is providing real solutions by giving them the chance to learn french, to have access to a training where they can improve their skills, and receive help on job search linked to their own capacities.

Acina is focusing on promoting social diversity and free access to culture for a better integration.

QUESTIONS - ANSWERS

Could we speak about professional inclusion without the social aspect?

“We are questioning ourselves about a global and complete inclusion.

The main focus of our mission is professional integration, but we know that precarious living situation is also a factor of exclusion.

That is why we are taking into account the social aspect of inclusion by giving access to culture on diverse topics, and organizing workshops on different thematics

Our work with partners allow us to guide the youth better in the organization that is the most relevant, and the possibility to organize cultural outings.

At last, we are encouraging meetings with our partners to avoid or to reduce the social exclusion gap that could exist.”

How could we improve inclusion of youth and especially the refugees and migrants?

“First of all, inclusion of Youth with refugee status starts by learning french.

Then global inclusion would be improved if we were making sure that those organizations which provide specific programmes for refugees and migrants were visible. Most of the time, young migrants are not aware of those specific programmes they could apply to.

In addition, it would be important to allow free access to culture.

It could be interesting to boost meetings between young refugees and organizations who are working for Youth but not specifically for refugees. Creating diversity in those kind of meetings would provide an extra support to young refugees. It will foster connections and creation of friendship.

At the end, inclusion of refugees would improve by itself if youth were not in the need of a home and in a financial emergency. They would have in hands more time to work on their life project plan.”

Ile de France - SINGA

SINGA is a global and citizen movement created in 2012. Located in 7 countries, they are based in 10 French cities. In total Singa has more than 20 000 members.

The organization has 3 missions: providing information, interacting, and innovating. Their main goal is always to facilitate meetings between refugees and locals.

Singa combines various actions:

- The incubator with diversity of profiles: new comers and locals citizens with a social project in mind. They are receiving individual guidance during 6 months, but also a collective dynamic thanks to mutual support and solidarity. It allows them to boost their network at the same time. It exists in Paris since 2016, in Lyon since 2018 and in Nantes since 2021. In total, the incubator has already accompanied 300 projects.
- Feel like home (CALM) an initiative in order to volunteer to welcome and host at home a refugee for one year long.

Singa aims at deconstructing stereotypes on refugees.

Through their work, they advocate to make easier and more accessible integration for refugees and migrants into the french society.

Below you can find a precise integration programme to implement as soon as the person arrives, promoted by Singa, that would be a more inclusive and complete:

- Offer French classes and provide an accommodation
- Reduce the amount of time for administrative tasks to be done in order that the documents that are giving the right to stay long-term in France come quicker.
- Implement a specific programme for the job search with workshops on: how to write a resume, how to look for a job in France, how to behave in interview,...
- Organize informal meetings with an audience which various background to allow connections and friendships

“We can see that relations are built on sharing and not only by a research of help thanks to the meetings that we are organizing.” Mays

QUESTIONS - ANSWERS

What difficulties are the youth facing during their professional inclusion?

“Young refugees to France have dreams like all young people in the world, but unfortunately the latter face many difficulties in terms of education, employment, living conditions and housing.

These difficulties are linked to a lack of knowledge of the labor market ecosystem, a lack of qualifications, a weak social base and in some cases the existence of discrimination. There are plenty of other reasons that vary depending on the specifics of each case and the nature of the person's activities.

More precisely and in connection with my activity on entrepreneurship, the challenge is of course more difficult to take up because of the diversity of obstacles such as limited regulatory access to financial and legal systems, ignorance of the entrepreneurial ecosystem and more broadly, the lack of network and business opportunities, mastery of socio-professional codes as well as access to physical premises.”

How could we say that the refugees who become entrepreneurs have a positive impact for French society?

Innovation resulting from migration is a game-changer: it is the source of a new economy that is more inclusive, creates value and benefits society as a whole.

It is participating in the creation of the world of tomorrow. Go on a road on which know where it leads: experiencing a failure, or inventing a new way of communicating, of governing, of monitoring an impact, of informing, of counting. The vocation of SINGA is to be an innovation laboratory which serves to activate civic and entrepreneurial projects.

Thus, its goal is to contribute to the emergence of new initiatives that share its values of inclusion and social impact. The formalization of inclusive pathways makes it possible to support the ecosystem of entrepreneurship and professional integration as a whole to transform it and develop its capacities to detect and reveal talents regardless of the profile of the person carrying the project.

Ile de France - Duo for a Job

DUO FOR A JOB is an NGO created in 2013 in Belgium and located in France since 2019.

It is an intergenerational and intercultural mentoring programme between young adults with a migrant background who are looking for a job (18-33 years old) and seniors (over 50).

They are creating duo called mentee and mentor. They meet 2 hours per week for 6 months.

The mentors are receiving a training of 20 hours before starting their mentoring.

Challenges of DUO For a Job:

- Equalize the number of mentors and mentee
- Implement the concept of moving forward to make sure they are reaching full capacity into the programme
- Accompany as many women as men.

In France, it exists more than 100 duo and the objective for 2021 is more than 150 duo.

¾ of youth are finding a vocational training, an internship or a job after the mentoring of Duo For a Job.

They just received a certification that allow them to have young adults working for Duo For a Job under the civic service agreement.

23% of young adults
under 25 years old are jobless.

The mentoring programme is free, individualized and customized.

Duo for a Job starts from the needs and expectations of the mentee - the young adult to find a mentor- the senior that suits them as much as possible.

The benefits of intergenerational and intercultural mentoring are numerous:

- Transmission of knowledge from seniors to juniors
- Open-mindedness of mentors
- Enhancement of self-confidence and the degree of autonomy of mentees
- Promotion of the “living-together” spirit

QUESTIONS - ANSWERS

Is the creation of a pairs with someone older than 50 years old and a young adult with the refugee status allowing people to be more open-minded and reducing stereotypes?

Exactly!

Mentors who are taking part of Duo for a Job are often telling us that they have questioned their thoughts about immigration and specially about refugees. Moreover refugees are representing the main part of our mentees. We can proudly say that Duo for a Job is helping the society to change its vision regarding refugees.

How could we highlight the benefits that Duo for a job is doing for the society?

By communicating on the success encountered by the pairs.

At Duo for a Job, 3 young adults out of 4 are finishing the program with a positive solution: job, internship, going back to school in a maximum of 12 months. Currently, we are communicating on our successes on our blog thanks to Carenews, and we are publishing regularly videos on Youtube. Moreover we are also using social media as Facebook and Instagram.

Feel free to share: it might motivate some of your close relatives to become a mentor (if they are over 50 years old) or to be involved in another initiative to help Youth being integrated into society!

QUESTIONS - ANSWERS

The ALLERO project will be helping for the professional integration of young refugees. What about the positive impact on the french society?

Deciding to change of life project plan, by coming to a new country and starting over, requests different steps. The professional one is obviously one of the most important. We cannot forget to take into account the others as the social integration into the new country, the discovering of a new language and the adaptation of a different way of life.

ALLERO claims to be a springboard for this entire new life project plan of those young refugees.

The positive impact is at the end of the program, to allow Young refugees to think “ before I was a refugee, now I am a baker, a butcher, a doctor” and to make every employer think: “I didn’t recruit a refugee, but a baker, a butcher, a doctor.”

What are the difficulties in the launching of ALLERO?

The main difficulty while launching a new project is the acceptance of a group of corporate and to make the HR method evolve.

We all agreed on the fact that the refugees that we are helping got skills in their birth country without validating them with a specific diploma.

Today in France, too many recruitment process are done under the idea of looking for a specific diploma or certification, but very few under the principle of looking for the rights skills.

Let’s change the recruitment process by putting aside the diplomas and giving a chance to required skills to allow people with a different background being recruited.

CONCLUSION

MIGRATIONS & INCLUSION OF YOUNG REFUGEES : WHAT CHALLENGES FOR CIVIL SOCIETY?

We decided to devote this event to: migration and inclusion of young refugees with a guideline to answer a specific question: what are the challenges for civil society?

This forum was able to highlight the benefits and difficulties of migration and the arrival of young refugees on French territory.

The speakers expressed a first challenge, which is the need to enhance the professional skills of refugees.

Unfortunately, they cannot always find an equivalent of their diploma or the experience they acquired in their home country.

It also seems complicated to master the techniques of job search as soon as you arrive in a new country.

You have to have time to learn the codes of the working world before going for an interview.

In order for professional integration to take place as well as possible, it seems necessary to include each person's personal situation. Being able to sleep in a safe place and being able to eat your fill seems essential and yet still too little taken into account.

In this sense, we face another challenge: to ensure that information is accessible as well as specific organizations more visible when arriving in France: whether it is help in finding employment, courses of French, or the possibility of obtaining temporary accommodation.

To do this, we absolutely need to work together to integrate young refugees.

We will have to simplify the administrative procedures to obtain an official residence permit which allows you to have a job and accommodation.

Today it may take more than a year to finalize. Despite their strength of character and unfailing motivation, refugees feel helpless in the face of the scale of the procedures.

Having a level of French that is often insufficient to be able to express themselves and find the help they need. Because too often, they find themselves alone to cope.

Finally, there is unfortunately still discrimination against refugees. We can create more open-minds by mixing people, refugee and non refugee, in order to get to know each other.

Another challenge to keep in mind is respecting parity, because when we look at the figures we see that 49% of migrants are women.

The idea of a complete integration path that would combine the professional and personal aspects of the newcomer could allow us to overcome the challenges facing civil society today.

CONCLUSION

In conclusion of this forum, it is clear that the challenges for civil society are numerous.

Especially since the number of people to immigrate voluntarily and / or involuntarily will continue to increase in the years to come.

It therefore seems important to look into the problems that this generates and to put in place concrete actions to resolve them as quickly as possible and to feel ready for the future.

During this afternoon of discussion, we highlighted a possible line of approach:

- Concrete actions for the inclusion of young refugees in France are being put in place. We must continue to discuss and question ourselves in order to constantly improve our way of doing things.
- The integration of young refugees requires a global and complete inclusion in French society. Always keeping in mind that this process must remain personalized, because everyone has specific needs.

- The awareness that the number of refugee and migrant women is significant, and that they must be allowed to play an important role in society.
- Being open-minded towards newcomers: refugees and migrants is necessary in view of the positive impact it has on society.

Today :

Migrant children were represented 12% of the total migrant population (UNICEF, 2020).

The estimated number of young migrants (aged 15-24) also increased from 22.1 million in 1990 to 31.7 million in 2020 (DESA, 2020).

For the future :

Keep in mind that the number of political and climate refugees will continue to increase.

We must therefore think in the long term and act quickly.
